

Hawa Mahal, Jaipur

Camel Fair, Pushkar

This fair is held at Pushkar town, 11 km from Ajmer, for 12 days annually. This cultural, trade and religious fair is an attractive and lively spectacle with Rajasthani men and women in their colourful traditional attire, saffron-robed and ash smeared Sadhus (holy men) and thousands of bulls, cows, sheep, goats, horses and camels in richly decorated saddles. Perhaps the largest cattle fair in the world, it attracts more than 100,000 people, from all over India and abroad. Apart from the religious rituals and trading, people participate in a number of cultural and sporting events.

Taj Mahal, Agra

One knows that "The Taj" is one amongst the World's Wonders! Also known as the "Monument to Love", the Taj Mahal stands serene and perfect in its garden of cypresses and reflecting pools on the banks of the Yamuna River. Its pure white marble shimmers silver in the moonlight, glows softly pink at dawn, and at inspiration of poets and painters, writers and photographers. And lovers still meet here in the moonlight in the shadow of the world's most famous monument to love.
